The Moving Finger

"The Moving Finger writes,
And having writ, moves on."
—Omar.

The "Moving Finger" got weary and laid off last week. We wondered whether anybody really cared. Here came a letter from an editor in a nearby town. Then came one of the great dailies which had copied from this corner, and then personal comments of callers. So here's another effort —or spasm.

* * *

No, friends, we are not trying to imitate Arthur Brisbane. We couldn't if we wanted to, and we wouldn't if we could—William Randolph Hearst might get us, and then he would take us away to New York City; and we'd rather live in Niles.

* * *

Lest we forget, we want to mention at this time that Charley James has repented—and we have forgiven and MAYBE forgotten. You see it's like this: Duck season opened Wednesday and Charley said he'd sure remember us the very next time he goes out for a hunt. The only thing we fear is that when the waitress says, "Light or dark; ham or shoulder?" we won't know how to act or what to say—because that duck will have but two legs and we won't know which is ham and which is shoulder.

Niles and suburbs—Oakland and San Francisco—will now have an opportunity to hear a Presidential candidate. LaFollette electors have been debarred from the ballot in California, so the candidate now says he will stump the State in retaliation. Seems to us that when a man receives the nomination by a large number of voters to run for President he should at least be permitted to have the names of his electors printed on the ballot. Bob is likely to gain votes because of this action on the part of the courts.

While at the Cliff House in San Francisco Sunday last we witnessed a sight we never want to see repeated. A lady with two small children was looking ver the iron railing at the edge of the rocks. The lady suddenly turned toward the little ones and said "Godbye," and, quick as a cat, leaped over the railing and plunged into the surging sea below. Lying on her back dashing back and forth between the rocks, she screamed for help. Strange to say, the Cliff House was not provided with the first hint of life-saving equipment! Word was sent to a "ilfe-saving" station some distance away where the equipment is said to consist of row boats. Some of the crew finally arrived on the scene after the body had been floating for nearly a half hour in sight of excited spectators. The men stationed themselves on a high point near the Cliff House and tried in vain for a glimpse of the body—which had just disappeared from view. Meantime two little children were crying for mamma. Indications were that society had a considerable responsibility in the case, as the little ones, while neat and clean, were poorly clad and poverty was evident. Another thing is evident: If you don't want to cross the Great Divide from which no one ever returns, don't jump into the ocean from the cliffs and scream for help with the expectation that a life-saving crew will come to your rescue in time to "bring you home."

OVATION GIVEN WOMAN LEADER WHOSE VISION IS NOW REALIZED

Del Valle When Complete Will Care for 250 Children

Del Valle farm, which comprises 45 acres near Arroyo Sanitarium, and the building which is the first permanent unit of the year round camp dedicated Sunday, has been paid for from the receipts of the Christmas Seal sales of the past three years.

Something like 700 interested persons motored to Livermore Sunday to participate in the exercises which formally dedicated the first unit of the Del Valle farm.

Fifty children already being cared for at the preventorium built and maintained by the Tuberculosis Association of Alameda county with the close co-operation of the board of supervisors, were featured in a program which presented leaders in child welfare movement in Caifornia. Tribute was paid Miss Annie Florence Brown by both speakers of the day and the large audience which assembled in the garden of the juvenile health resort. Miss Brown was acclaimed the public spirited woman to whose vision the preventorium was conceived and carried to conclusion. An ovation was given her when introduced by Leroy Goodrich, president of the Tuberculosis Association and chairman of the day.

ASSOCIATION HISTORY REVIEWED

The history of the county association which has sponsored the preventive work for children, was reviewed by Goodrich in his opening address. To the Tuberculosis Association of Alameda county, organized 15 years ago, he accredited the adoption of the state law making possible the founding of preventoria, the movement which culminated in the establishment of Arroyo sanitarium and the public health Center of Alameda count. Appreciation of the board of supervisors for co-operation in the public health program was expressed.

Welcome to the preventorium was given by John F. Mullins, supervisor.

TREATMENT SPOKEN OF BY DIRECTOR

The place of Del Valle farm in the scheme of prevention, and the treatment which the young patients will receive, was outlined by Dr. Chesley Bush, medical director of Arroyo sanitarium, who will superintend the medical work of the institution.

Selected from among the school children in whom tuberculosis has not yet become active, by nurses and public health officials, a system of balanced rest, diet, sunshine treatment, will be carried out. Upon going to the farm a child will be isolated in bed for a period of ten days, following which active treatment will be continued until discharge.

BOYS WILL MEET AT MISSION SCHOOL FOR PICNIC, HIKE

All is set for the big day for the Boy Scouts on Saturday, Oct. 4.

The boys will meet at the Mission San Jose grammar school at 9:30 where there will be a short program before starting on the hike. Scoutmaster Bendel will be in charge of the boys from Niles.

Ice cream has been provided for the boys in addition to the regular lunches.

Fathers and friends of the boys are especially invited to join in the trip.

HOW THEY DO IT IN THAT TOWN OF LIVERMORE

Absorbing Tale of a Lizzie, a Barrel, a Leak, and the Officers.

Over in Livermore they have difficulties with bootleggers occasionally; but last week, when a drive was being made to enforce the regulations governing the motor vehicle light law, they had a new experience.

Hundreds of machines with their headlights glaring, or shining at illegal angles, were stopped by the officers and the drivers ordered to have the lights adjusted and to hold a little conversation with Judge Fitzgerald on September 30th.

In the midst of the operations, which caused automobiles to be lined up on both sides of First street for blocks around, down the street came a flivver laboriously bucking its way across the pavement. The headlights were at odds with each other, one shining here and the other there, and the motor cops blew their whistles and ordered the car to stop. Without even the grace of a covering of any kind, a fifteen gallon barrel, a ten gallon jug and two five-gallon demijohns, all full to overflowing with old wine, occupied the position of honor in the back seat.

Just to make matters worse, the barrel was leaking and it didn't take the officers long to identify the rich aroma that preceded and surrounded the trusty flivver.

The driver of the flivver spent the night in the local "hoosegow," and next morning was separated from $150.00 by Judge Fitzgerald who presides over the Justice's Court at Livermore. More important, he was separated from the liquid refreshments that he had brought with him into town. The citizens of Livermore take pride in their policy of permitting a plenty of liquor to get into town, but none to get out.

The drive was made as a warning to secure better enforcement of the regulations contained in the automobile act and to compel the proper adjustments of headlights. A great many accidents have happeend as a result of improperly adjusted headlights, and so a group of officers from all over the county congregated in Livermore and took part in the big drive. They were L. E. Wright, Livermore speed cop, Louis Eike of Oakland, Johnson of San Leandro, Alves of Hayward, Lewis of Irvington, and Steinmeyer, who works directly under the State Motor Vehicle Department. Hundreds of machines were stopped and scores of arrests were made.—C. C. News.

1000 MASONS JOIN CARAVAN PILGRIMAGE TO NILES HOME

Delegations Present From All Parts of Aahmes Jurisdiction

One of the largest groups of Masons which ever visited the Masonic home between Niles and Decoto arrived Saturda ywhen Aahmes temple members from twelve counties, accompanied by their band and chanter's chorus, formed a caravan. The visiting Masons brought their wives, coming late in the afternoon and spreading box lunches at sunset.

Upwards of 1000 Masons comprised the caravan of Shriners which made the pilgrimage. Delegations were reported from Del Norte, Humboldt, Mendocino, Lake Sonoma, Napa, Stanislaus, Tuolumne, Merced, Mariposa and Contra Costa counties, as well as from all Alameda county towns.

These 12 counties comprise the jurisdiction of Aahmes temple of Oakland.

The band gave a concert beginning at 4 o'clock. Interspersed with the band music were solos by members of the chanters and also quartettes and choruses. With the visitors came many who had not seen the new buildings and additions.

They were delighted at the improvements that the present year brought in the shape of an addition to the dining room, a large new hospital, an auditorium that is capable of seating a small army of people, with a stage completely equipped with scenery enough for playlets of all kinds.

Franklin R. Haley, illustrious potentate, was in charge of the program; Herman Trutenr, Jr., conductor of the band; Arthur R. Anderson, manager of the band, and L. E. Westrich, captain of the patrol that demonstrated the harmony of Masonic unity in team work, were thanked personally at the conclusion of the entertainment by the officials responsible for what the retired Masons of the home termed one of the most pleasant occasions that they ever enjoyed.

Superintendent Frank B. Hartman explained that the completion of the buildings constructed this year finishes the construction pro-

The Ladies' Guild Bazaar has been set for Friday, Nov. 21st the last Friday before Thanksgiving. The following committees were appointed at the last meeting of the Guild: fancy work table, Mrs. H. B. Ellsworth, Mrs. F. M. Hudson, Mrs. Sillers; home cooking, Mrs. E. A. Ellsworth, Mrs. Barnard, Mrs. Kennard, Mrs. Mann; White Elephant table, Mrs. Trask, Mrs. Walpert; Children's table, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. C. E. Martenstein, Mrs. Marden; Candy, Mrs. Drinkwater and Sunday school class.

SUGAR RECORD IS BROKEN, WHOLE TOWN CELEBRATES

When it became known late one evening last week that the Alvarado sugar mill had broken its high record for one day's production, employees and townspeople generally staged a rally to celebrate the event.

The crowd hung the former record in the shape of a dummy on the highest point in the factory where it will be left until the new record of output is surpassed.

The new record reached, when 1133 tons of beets were sliced in a 24-hour run, is the greatest since the mill was built in 1868.

TABULATE ASSETS OF TOWNSHIP SAYS JELEFF

All Our Eggs Are Not In One Basket, Speaker Points Out

As usual, the business men's luncheon last Tuesday drew an attendance that filled the banquet room to the doors and every plate was taken. (Don't let this discourage you or keep you away, because they always find a way to provide for one more).

E. A. Ellsworth was chairman of the day, and after President Drew got through with his program at the cash box, Mr. Ellsworth took charge and called upon his list of orators to do their stuff.

J. W. Fitting of the State Bank at Centerville was a very interesting speaker, and called attention to the fact that Washington township residents have their eggs in many baskets—so much different from the conditions in the interior where so much depends upon the success of a single crop.

The industrial committee reported that Decoto has planted cauliflower seed expected to produce 50 cars of cauliflower the coming season.

Charles Jeleff of Newark also addressed the gathering. He mentioned the advisability of the chambers of commerce of the different towns in the township getting together and gathering statistics for the purpose of learning what is really in the township in the way of industries and natural advantages.

There were short "after dinner" speeches by several others of our budding orators.

Don't forget the luncheon next Tuesday noon.

P. S.—Sam Thornwally was unable to be present last Tuesday, so anticipating a fine for his absence he sent in 10 cents by Root Beer John, so if John didn't make delivery it will cost SOMEBODY a whole dollar.

MRS. M. WILDER ENTERTAINS

Mrs. Milton Wilder entertained three tables of bridge at her home in Niles Thursday evening. The rooms were tastefully decorated with late fall flowers carrying out a yellow color scheme. Ernest Martin won first prize, Mrs. F. O. Trask second and Mrs. E. Martin consolation prize.

300 METERS ARE DEEMED NECESSARY TO GET ACTION

P. G. & E. Officials Order Immediate Survey of District

As we go to press we learn that the P. G. & E. is already on the job in the matter of exending gas mains to Niles, Centerville and Newark. Thanks to George Donovan, local representative, that matter was immediately brought to the attenion of the company after last Tuesday's luncheon. The manager of the gas department at once took steps to make a survey of the district, work on which will doubtless begin within a week. After this is done the company will be able to tell the number of patrons necessary to warrant the extension of the service.

P. G. & E. officials expressed much surprise at the action taken at last Tuesday's luncheon. Generally, they say, it is up to the company to take initial moves in the matter of extension of service and rarely indeed does a community come to the front and ask for it.

The Chamber of Commerce tonight instructed Secretary Pfeiffer to instruct the P. G. & E. that it would co-operate in every way with the company and give every possible aid in the matter of making the survey.

It is the opinion of P. G. & E. officials that should the service be brought to Niles and Centerville that it would be taken to Newark at the same time. This should please our sister city at the continental end of Dumbarton bridge.

Niles, Centerville, Decoto, and Newark are going to drill (no, going to the bat) for gas.

This is the decision arrived at by those attending the business men's luncheon last Tuesday.

Gas was about the livest question recently brought before the hungry bunch of humanity which once a week gathers at the Classic Grill for a feed.

It was stated that the P. G. & E. would probably require about 300 meters on the line to extend from Hayward to Niles. Of this quite a number could be depended upon from Decoto and also many from the new town of Somar or Ramos, or—well, YOU NAME IT.

Everybody present, even the the real estate men, were in favor of gas.

Mr. Donovan, local representative of the P. G. and E., was called on for information. Mr. Donovan gave it as his opinion that the company would extend the mains to Niles if 300 meter users could be secured. However, he said that that was outside of his part of the business and would have to be referred to the company. He stated that a part of the business of the P. G. and E. is making and selling gas and the company is progressive and always looking for additional business.

The matter will be taken up by the Chamber of Commerce.

STARTLING FIGURES ON LIQUOR SITUATION GIVEN BY DR. HOWE IN PUBLIC ADDRESS WHILE ON VISIT

Rev. J. H. Howe, pastor of the First Baptist church of Modesto, has been visiting in this county of late, and has been making some public addresses, in which he gives some startling figures regarding the liquor situation in British Columbia. His knowledge of the situation was gained in a recent trip through that province in which he made personal observations as to how the system of government handling of liquor is working out in that region, supplemented by interviews with leading officials and merchants.

"A condition obtains in Canada which has never been surpassed, not in the old saloon days of the West," said Rev. Howe, and continued, saying: "In this province the population of which is less than that of San Francisco, the people consumed last year twenty-four million dollars worth of beer and liquor. Twelve million dollars worth was handled directly by the government, but the Attorney General himself states that that is only fifty per cent of the amount of liquor which is consumed, the other half of the business being in the hands of bootleggers who operate in a manner that is bold and brazen in the extreme.

"It perhaps makes it easier to realize what is going on in the province if the official figures are reduced to the amount being spent per capita, which is $31.00; add to this another $31.00 to cover the bootleg traffic, and you have the staggering sum of $62.00 per capita per year for every man, woman and child in the province.

"There is a war indebtedness in British Columbia of $600 per capita. This is the heaviest war burden being carried on our continent. Not only is the debt great in amount, but it is increasing at the rate of nearly twenty per cent annually. What the outcome will be, no one can say.

"The weakness of the law under which British Columbia is working is that the measure which was passed in 1916, though nominally a prohibition measure, made legal the importation of liquors for export purposes. Brewers were allowed to make beer, and distillers to make liquor—for export purposes. This is what gives the bootleggers the smoke screen under which they operate.

"Government handling does not permit consumption of liquor on the premises of the government stores, but the householder, after payment of two dollars for the permit to which he is entitled, can buy an unlimited amount for consumption elsewhere, and the club manager, after payment of a three hundred dollar annual license, can maintain an establishment on the premises of which liquor may be consumed.

"In the campaign for the above measure the people of British Columbia were promised many benefits, among which was reduction of taxes. As a matter of fact, the only return the people get for the enormous amount of money being squandered on liquor consists of $1.00 return for every $17.00 spent."

Summing up his talk, Rev. Howe says: "Under the compromise measure which was adopted in British Columbia, the government does not control liquor. Liquor controls the government. The dry element there looks with envy upon the United States because of the more clear-cut character of the provisions of the 18th Amendment making prohibition enforcement possible. Combinations of Canadian and American capital are erecting huge structures in British Columbia, intended as depots from which distribution will be made in all directions. Meanwhile the United States is arming gun boats to intercept huge shipments headed south, and international relations are, for the first time in history, becoming actually strained."

The Modesto man makes earnest plea that the populations on both sides of the border be furnished with the facts, in order that the situation may be squarely faced and the proper solution worked out.

Saxon civilization was stressed by Dr. Tully C. Knoles, president of the College of the Pacific, the principal speaker of the day. He commented on the interdependence of all life and the necessity of raising such standards that no child may be sacrificed to neglect, indifference or greed.

Mrs. Clement Miller, president of Oakland chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, which presented the American flag to the institution, raised the banner on the staff in the presence of the geusts and children at the farm.

Peter Crosby, president of Hayward health center, delivered the patriotic oration. The children recited the pledge of allegiance.

RECEPTION UNDER THE TREES

An informal reception under the trees was held following the program. Refreshments were served by a coterie of women who have assisted in creating the Livermore institution. Inspection of the spacious building, which provides accommodations to 50, was made by guests.

When complete the farm will take care of 250 children.

ALVARADO GRAMMAR SCHOOL DEFEATS ALVISO IN BASEBALL GAME

The Alvarado Grammar School defeated Alvio Grammar School in a baseball game on Sept. 29, 1924, with a score of 16 to 7. Both teams played fairly well. Alvarado Grammar school played on the Alviso grounds.

First Inning.

Alvarado at bat. Three fan outs. Alviso at bat. Scored 1 run by Rubin Ferry.

Second Inning

Alvarado at bat. Three outs on bases. Alviso at bat. One more run, by Manuel Abren.

Third Inning

Alvarado at bat. Scored 5 runs by Melvin Scow, Edward Slate, Harold Philips ,Ray Perry, Joe Lemos. Alviso at bat. Scored 3 more runs by Manuel Abren, Clarence Souza, and Eddie Rose; leaving score a tie, 5 to 5.

Fourth Inning

Alvarado at bat. Scored one more run by Joe Lemos. Joe Lemos hit a home run off of Rubin Ferry. Alviso at bat. Scored 2 runs.

Fifth Inning

Alvarado at bat. Scored ten runs by Melvin Scow, Harold Philips, W. Hendricks (2 runs), Ray Merry (2 runs), Ray Fugel (2 runs) Tashi Sato (1 run), Joe Lemos (2 runs). Alviso at bat. Scored no runs. Leaving score 16 to 7 in favor of Alvarado.

Norman Pochoto, catcher for Alvarado, got knocked out and Manuel Amaral took his place.

Joe Lemos of Alvarado hit a home run off of Rubin Ferry, the Alviso pitcher. He also got a crack in the head with the ball.

Wilbert Hendricks pitched four innings and fanned out seven. The catcher for Alvarado was small and he often missed the ball so Wilbert Hendricks caught and Harold Philips pitched the last inning for Alvarado. No one reached first base off of Harold hPilips.

Toshi Sato made a bad error on third by dropping the ball, letting a man go home. Joe Lemos made an error on second, leaving a man come in home also.

Alvarado won the game by good coaching, which was done by Mr. Morrison and Harold Philips.

Bids are now to be received for the Grammar school building. We hope it will be sold soon. We need the playground room.

* * *

Edward Lemos of Alvarado was working in the Alameda Sugar Company and on Tuesday morning injured three fingers in the beet grinder. He will be off duty for about eight weeks.

* * *

The illness of Dorothy Lydecker has kept her out of school. She has now returned, entering the fifth grade.

* * *

Mrs. Morrison, the bus driver of the California Salt Company school bus, now carries nine children. It looks as though she will have two more soon.

* * *

The manual trining room will be made larger by a carpenter. The boys wanted to do it but were not permitted.

* * *

The baseball team of Alvarado is ready to play any grammar school in the township. They have got a new player, Harold Philip. The members of the team have elected Wilbert Hendricks as manager.

* * *

The room in which sewing is to be held is not yet furnished, so the sewing is held in Miss Berger's room.

* * *

The enrollment of the Alvarado Grammar School has increased from one hundred and ninety-two pupils to two hundred and twenty-three. Some of them, however, have gone away.

* * *

Mr. Antone Vargas, after a severe case of sickness, has returned to his home from the hospital.

* * *

Laura Garcia, a former school girl, was married last Saturday at four o'clock to Joe Piexotto at Newark. They had a big supper and left at seven o'clock at night on their honeymoon to Santa Maria and Santa Barbara.

* * *

The Alvarado Girls' Baseball team played Alviso Monday. Both teams played hard. Edith Mello is Manager of the Alvarado team. The score was 8-7 in Alviso's favor.

* * *

The eighth grade of Alvarado Grammar school is glad to welcome a new member, Harold Phillips, of Oakland. He is taking an active part in the first team of the boys' baseball.

* * *

Saia Olivencia and his sisters, Emily and Lucy, have returned to this school after a two months stay in Gilroy picking prunes. His school mates were glad to welcome him back to the seventh grade.

* * *

Edith Mello, former assistant editor, is now editor as Wilbert Hendricks term of one month is up. Norman Peixotto was elected assistant editor and will take Edith Mello's place next month.

* * *

The former school care taker of Alvarado school, Mr. Filores, has taken ill.

* * *

A Niles girl, Pauline Alameda, is trying to take an Alvarado boy, Tony Silva, away from here. They are engaged to be married.

* * *

Miss Ruby Joyce from Alvarado is running in the Hayward Review contest. The first prize is an automobile. Ruby is getting along very successfully.

CHERRY CITY FLOAT IN DONS PARADE DRAWS ATTENTION

(From the Cherry City News)

San Leandro, the Cherry City, had a float in the Dons of Peralta parade last Friday.

The float represented a gondola and was constructed under the supervision of Pierre Fontaine of the R. C. Doty Motor Company with the assistance of Jack Adams, Mrs. Henry Hale, Mrs. Dr. Miller, Mrs. Charles Gibson and J. Lynch, at the garage of H. H. Crum.

Flowers and ferns were furnished from the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. J. Joseph of East Fourteenth street.

Riding on the float were Miss Betty Harris of Broadmoor, Delano Adams Serafini and Giseppi Lucio.

Although not as an elaborate a float as Oakland and some of the larger city entries the San Leandro float attracted much attention and the judges gave the local entry honorable mention. The funds were provided by the San Leandro Chamber of Commerce.

COUNTRY CLUB TO HAVE POWER

Extend Electric Lines Soon Into Crow Canyon, Is Plan

Electric power and light lines will be extended into the grounds of the East Bay Country Club, in Crow Canyon, at once, according to word just received from the Pacific Gas & Electric Company by R. H. Maddan, president of the club. The country club line will tap the main wires in the Hayward district, then following the Crow Canyon road for three miles, where it branches off the Dublin highway.

With the receipt of this decision of the power company to wire Crow Canyon, Maddan said that the clubhouse, now practically completed, will be electrically equipped in all departments. It will be electrically lighted, heated and cooled, and all cooking will be done on electric ranges, he pointed out. The weekend cottages of members and the clubhouses of other subsidiary organiaztions to the country club will also use the power and light lines. The main and branch pumping stations of the club's water supply system will be electrified as soon as possible, Madden said.

The State Highway Commission has posted "detour" signs on the Crow canyon road and has begun preliminary work upon the construction of a concrete highway that will reach from Dublin boulevard through Crow Canyon to San Ramon. The first work is being done on the highway bridges approaching the club grounds.

"TO BUILD OR NOT TO BUILD"

MANY PROMINENT SPEAKERS AT NEW CITY'S OPENING

Plans for a festive gathering on Columbus Day, to celebrate the opening of the New City between Niles and Hayward on the state highway, proceeds apace, according to a statement sent out by Ramos Bros. of Oakland and Hayward, who are responsible for the creation of the townsite.

Speakers who have been invited to add the interest of their presence and their voices to the assembly are among the prominent public men of the East Bay. Mayor Davie of Oakland has been asked to say a few words, and Hayward's leading official, Mayor Kolze, will also speak, taking as his theme the relation in position of the New City to Hayward.

Judge Harder, whose public spirit and broad interest in public affairs has made him universally esteemed, is another probable orator at the gathering, and Peter J. Crosby, a prominent Oakland attorney who was brought up in the valley where the new community is to be established, has been asked to look back and talk of the past there in relation to this promising future.

In response to the request for suggestions for the city's name, many replies are already reported, although the contest will not close until October 12th, after which date the prize of $100 in cash will be awarded by judges.

"Judging by these evidences of interest, our opening day will be well attended, and we intend to give a fitting welcome to all comers," says Ramos. "In the big auditorium, which is now well under way, there will be a barbecue, refreshments of all kinds, and a dance. Thus visitors will have an excellent opportunity to study the surroundings, and to prove for themselves that it is an ideal location for a new city.

"Its fertility and even climate, comparing so favorably with that of its close neighbors, attracts a great many. Families who wish to bring up their children under simple conditions, yet whose business compels them to stay close to Oakland, have in our community the solution of their problems.

"Even in advance of the opening day, we have had requests for inforamtion about the prizes offered for buildings completed by November 11th, that is, within 30 days of the opening day. These prizes total $1800, and with the help of the plans and specifications which are to be got from our tract office, the construction of the houses should be greatly simplified.

"We anticipate the attendance of a big crowd, and are confident they will be well repaid for coming. Purchases made in that section today are bound to rise in value shortly, and meanwhile to furnish inexpensive and desirable homes."

ROAD WORK MUST NOT CEASE, DECREE

(Editorial from the Stockton Record of September 23, 1924.)

"Are we going to build more highways or are we going to stop?" asks Harvey M. Toy, chairman of the California State Highway Commission.

We are going to build more highways, of course. Whoever thought that California, having had the value of good roads so forcibly demonstrated would quit cold in the middle of a comprehensive program? The state has yet to finish forty per cent of the highway system which already has been planned and new needs are presenting themselves on almost every hand.

"But," Mr. Toy advises, "the highway commission is broke today, totally, absolutely, completely broke. No new construction is going on and none can go on until we can get some more money. All that we are running on now is some driblets. We are a year behind."

Mr. Toy presents the following recommendations:

That the gasoline tax be increased one cent, and the motor vehicle fees be raised from $5 to $6, all money to go to the state to provide approximately $15,000,000 a year for highway purposes.

That interstate highway connections be financed and completed as quickly as possible.

That the state maintain, and in some cases even construct, the highway through some of the smaller unincorporated cities of the state.

That usable roads in mountain and other districts, of benefit to all traffic, but now supported by counties, be maintained and improved by the state.

Public opinion will support such a program. Motorists will not complain against a 1-cent increase in gas tax nor against a reasonable increase in the license fee. They appreciate the value of good roads and the imoprtance to California of finishing the sysem. As the users and the chief beneficiaries of the highways, the motorists are willing to pay the premium. If they are wise they will insist, however, that the state retain all of the additional revenues which any increase in the tax rate and license fees will bring. There should be no division of these fundos with county boards. The state, by reason of the superiority of its highway building organization and its ability to handle large jobs, gets more out of a dollar, as a rule, than the county does. When the gasoline tax money is divided among fifty-eight counties it is too often frittered away on small jobs without accomplishing much worth while.

The principle of charging more of the cost of highway building to those who use roads is economically sound, though it may be admitted that all owners of property and all residents of California profit to a certain extent from good roads, regardless of whether they are motor owners.

Mr. Toy points out that it costs $2.50 to retire every dollar of bonds voted and declares that further financing of highway construction by state bond issues is unawrranted on account of the extreme cost. The time has come for California to adopt a "pay-as-you-go plan." Mr. Toy is right, although the adoption of the bonding plan as a beginner was unquestionably justified. California had to have a good taste of good roads before she could appreciate their worth and having had a taste, she naturally wants more. The bond method was the only avaialble method of providing the nucleus of a good roads system. The nucleus has already more than paid for its cost.

Highway financing will be one of the most important matters to come before the legislature next January.

Washington Township

¶ Washington Township is beautifully situated along a pretty range of hills and across the head of the Santa Clara Valley, midway between the cities of Oakland and San Jose. The territory is rich in agriculture, horticulture and dairying, and the eight towns within the Township have many important industries with large payrolls. The Township organizations include the Washington Township Men's Club, the Country Club, and the Washington Township Branch of the Alameda County Health Center, with Mrs. Helen Bramhall as nurse in charge.

MISSION SAN JOSE

Has a population of 500, is four miles from Niles, twenty-eight miles from Oakland and fifteen miles from San Jose, on the State Highway. It is a thriving farming community and boasts the Mission San Jose de Guadalupe, established in 1779; has a fine grammar school and a branch of the County Library. Various Mercantile lines are represented.

NILES

A community twenty-four miles from Oakland and nineteen miles from San Jose. It is intersected by two railroad lines—a division point of the Southern Pacific, together with a regular station of the Western Pacific. Niles has a population of 1600. It has up to date facilities, three churches, Catholic, Congregational and Christian Science; a public library, one newspaper—TOWNSHIP REGISTER, and an active Chamber of Commerce. The principal industries located in Niles are the Niles Sand, Gravel and Rock Company, the California Brick Company, the California Nursery Company, the Canyon Gravel Company, the Shuckl & Co., Inc., Cannery, the Victory Manufacturing Company; the California Pottery Company, and the K. & L. Box & Lumber Company.

WARM SPRINGS

Has a population of about 500; is eight miles from Niles, thirty miles from Oakland and twelve miles from San Jose; is at the junction of the highways leading to Oakland by way of Niles and the Valley route; is a rich fruit, hay and grain section; has a grammar school and a branch of the County Library.

CENTERVILLE

Located nineteen miles from San Jose and twenty-three miles from Oakland; has a population of 1200, maintains two banks—a branch of the Bank of Italy and a branch of the State Bank. A new union high school a short distance from the main town accommodates high school pupils of the entire Township. The spiritual needs of the community are served by three churches, Catholic, Presbyterian and Episcopal. The Booth Cannery and a Community Packing House, built by local capital, are the principal institutions that contribute to commercial channels of the community. Centerville has one newspaper, The Washington News, and maintains a Chamber of Commerce devoted to the industrial development of the community.

IRVINGTON

Irvington is located six miles from Niles, sixteen miles from San Jose and twenty-six miles from Oakland. It has a community church embracing all denominations, a branch of the county library; an up-to-date grammar school and an active Chamber of Commerce. Two important manufacturing establishments are located here, the Reed Bros. Manufacturing Company, devoted to manufacture of surgical and medical supplies, and an aluminum plant, operated by H. M. Mayer Company.

ALVARADO

Has a population of 1,000; is six miles from Niles, twenty-two miles from Oakland and about the same from San Jose; has the Alameda Sugar Company refinery, salt works, dairy, truck and fruit farming; has two churches, Catholic and Presbyterian, the parent bank of the Bank of Alameda County, a fine grammar school and a branch of the County Library, many mercantile establishments, and a Chamber of Commerce.

NEWARK

Has a population of 500; is the continental end of the proposed Dumbarton bridge; six miles from Niles, twenty-six miles from Oakland and twenty-two miles from San Jose. Has the James-Graham Manufacturing plant manufacturing Wedgewood stoves and ranges; has two salt producing plants, a grammar school, a branch of the County Library; a branch of the State Bank, and several Mercantile establishments.

DECOTO

This is one of the old towns of this section. It is three miles from Niles, and twenty-one miles from Oakland. It has a population of about 700, has a cannery, a fruit packing establishment, the Edward Salz Company feed warehouse and mills. There is a Catholic church, a grammar school, and a branch of the County Library. It is in the midst of a rich dairy and farming community.

THE LOVE OF BEAUTY

From "The Real Value of Art," an address by Morris Gray at the semi-centennial of the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art.

"The love of beauty is a thing of the spirit. It is free. It is already shared to some extent at least by rich and poor, by educated and uneducated. It brings us together. It makes us kin.

"At one of your concerts here last March I sat near a girl and her mother and sister, recent immigrants from one of the countries of southeastern Europe, black hair, growing low upon the forehead, a white pallor and out of it beautiful eyes that seemed to hold generations of tragedy yet shimmered now and then into sudden gladness. After a while the musicians played something that came out of that part of the world. It had the wild, weird, primitive human quality. It tore at the heartstrings. Presently the girl put her elbows on her knees, her head between her hands, and I saw that her shoulders were quivering with emotion. When the musician stopped she threw back her head and the tears were running down her cheeks, yet the eyes were the eyes of joy and of vision. And she had spiritual wealth far greater than we had, for she saw beauty, as it must always be seen at its greatest, through tears—tears of exaltation.

"The things that are material, the food, the clothing, the business—what you choose—tend to differentiate us. The things of the spirit tend to bring us together. It is not on the things that are material, it is on the things that are spiritual that the great kinships of life, the great kinships of the world, are founded."

CHARACTER NEEDED.

John J. Tigert, U. S. Commissioner of Education, has these words to say about true and false systems of education: "More character and less culture! That is our great educational necessity today. Honesty, justice and decency contribute more to a proper social attitude than intensive culture and modern efficiency. If we cannot teach these virtues along with modern thought, then we had better dismantle our splendidly equipped institutions of learning and return to the old log school house."

COST OF EDUCATION

The sum we spend on education SOUNDS "enormous" but when reduced to its lowest terms—the cost to each individual—it seems very small. Taking the whole country over, it is about 3 cents per person per day. It seems hardly fair to charge education with the excessive burden of which it is such a small part. We are able to give without "sorely taxing" our ability what is needed to provide adequate school advantages for all, if only we regard the education of our children as a primary duty of the State. It is a matter of priority of interest and not a question of ability.

—o—

WHO SHOULD PEOPLE THIS NATION

The only question at all important in our immigration policy, thinks the World's Work, is the necessity of our peopling the United States with the racial stocks out of which a nation can be built. The temporary needs of manufacturers should not be allowed to interfere with that great and basic program.

—o—

A THOUGHT ON THE COMMONPLACE

Mrs. F. Bunting attended a Washington College reunion in Claremont with Mrs. Martie Crane Clark. There were fourteen of the old school mates present. Among those were Mrs. R. H. Swayne, Mrs. G. Dunsmeur, Mrs. M. Luellying, Mrs. G. Huxley, Mrs. A. Crane, Mrs. Edna Harmon Wixon. Out of the fourteen all were widows but three. There was a delicious luncheon, after which old times were recalled and the absent thought of. It was also a fact that none of them had bobbed hair. The circle only meets twice a year. The next will be held in February with Mrs. C. C. Crane of San Jose.

Lubrication Questions Answered by
ASSOCIATED OIL COMPANY
Staff of Automotive Engineers

Question: Have been advised to add some ground cork to the oil in my transmission and differtial, to reduce the noise. Is this all right?

Answer: The addition of ground cork, sawdust, or any fillers to lubrication in gear cases is certainly not advisable. Solid matter will pack in your gears as they mesh together and will act as a wedge. Great strain and frictional wear is then added to the bearings in your case and the very condition which you are trying to eliminate will gradually become worse. Remember that no lubricant will entirely overcome mechanical faults and in old, worn-out transmissions and differentials the only remedy will be new bushings and gears. A good heavy mineral oil, such as dark steam cylinder stock, or a good gear compound that has a filler of fiber grease should be used. This fiber grease is not a material fiber, but a texture of a fiberous nature produced by the method of manufacture.

Question: What causes crankcase dilution, and just what is meant by the term?

Answer: Crankcase dilution is descriptive in itself. Dilution means to make more thin, or to thin out by the addition of another fluid. This other fluid is the cause of crankcase trouble in the form of gas which leaks past the piston rings from the combustion chamber. In the crankcase it is condensed back into liquid form by being admitted to a space of lower temperature and it begins to unite with the lubricating oil and causes a change in its viscosity. Poor grades of gasoline are often to blame for this condition. A gasoline which contains too much heavy end products will not be consumed in the small diameters and well cooled cylinders of automobile engines that operate at high speed, and the heavy ends which are of a kerosene nature and less volatile than the remainder of the blend are left behind in the liquid form. In this form it washes the lubricating film off the cylinder walls and passes the piston ring into the crankcase below.

The most frequent form of crankcase dilution comes from the practice of starting the engine with the choaker partially or fully out and then operating for a period of time without changing it. Extra rich gas is thus manufactured, part of which eventually finds its way into the crankcase and the balance goes to produce carbon to foul up your spark plugs and to produce a black smoke which is the product of incomplete combustion. By Distillation after a 1000-mile run your crankcase oil will give up from 3 to 10 per cent of liquid gasoline, according to the mechanical condition of your cylinder and pistons, the nature of your fuel and the manner in which you handle your engine.

ROBERTS IMPLEMENT CO. BOOSTERS FOR EAST BAY

The Roberts Implement Company of Hayward is one of the live wire merchants of this section. Mr. Roberts was in Niles on Saturday and reported several sales in Washington township the previous week, including one heavy duty I. H. C. double-action disc harrow to M. R. Rodrigues of Niles and another one to M. V. Fontes, also of Niles; a 5 furrow 14 inch tractor plow to J. M. Bettencourt of Decoto.

Mr. Roberts believes there is a bright future ahead for the East Bay section and he is putting his shoulder to the wheel and pushing.

CONSTABLE VALANCE HAS 'BARGAIN SALE'

(From the Cherry City News)

Sometime ago the State Bank brought proceedings and recovered a judgment against Geo. Kato and thereafter levied an execution on a 1921 Chevrolet car which he owned. The Bank through its attorney instructed Constable Valance to sell the car and notified him that it desired to bid in the car on judgment for the amount of $150. Through some miscue Constable Valance held the sale without giving notice to either the State Bank or its attorney, and the result was that Joe Brandon, the enterprising bill collector from Hayward, was enabeld to purchase the automobile for $25.

From all reports it was a very pretty little car, and in good condition, and Joe Brandon certainly made a bargain, but we understand the State Bank is not altogether pleased at the result of the sale, and that a motion will be made to set it aside. The motion will be held in the local Justice's Court at an early date, and promises to be hotly contested.

Burned Fuse in Country Is Quite Inconvenient

A burned-out fuse on one's car in the country is very inconvenient if there are no spares with which to replace it, but if the motorist will carry a little tinfoil in his box of odds and ends he can make a serviceable temporary repair in a minute. As a matter of fact, any one who smokes cigarettes or chews gum or eats candy on the road usually has some tinfoil on his person, and so it is not necessary to make a special point of including it with the tools.

To rehabilitate the burned fuse it is wrapped with one or two layers of the foil and reinserted in the fuse box. Care should be taken not to wrap the fuse too heavily, as if this is done damage is liable to result to the wiring if it is suddenly stressed with an overload.

Motors Move Millions

It is hoped there will be a fine attendance.

UNCOVER INDIAN MOUND AT NEWARK

James Colins of Newark is establishing a name as a historian among his school students. A few days ago Jimmie discovered an old Indian mound near the Newark marsh. Today he went back again and found another one near by. It was believed that a settlement of Indians at some time occupied all the land around there. The bones and skull were brought to high school and Mr. Getchell, teacher of history, is endeavoring to wire the remains together for examination.

MEN'S CLUB TO HAVE MEETING ON MONDAY

The Men's Club of Washington Township will banquet and toast next Monday evening at the First Congregational Church in Niles. Howard F. Chadbourne is to provide the main flow of oratory, taking as his subject, "Europe as it Looked to Me." A very interesting program has been prepared and if you are a member of the club and do not attend you will be sorry—and if you are a MAN and not a member, you ought to be.

Fire Prevention Week October 5th to 11th

October 5 to 11 is known as fire prevention week throughout the United States. It is during this week that the public is asked to remove all fire hazards from their premises. As Chief, I ask the people of Niles to clean their chimneys, also to clear all rubbish from attics, from cellars, likewise the yards.

Seventy-five per cent of the present annual loss of $506,540,000 or $379,900,000 is preventable and therefore can be prevented.

It is cheaper to prevent fires than fight them. Fire wastes life, health and wealth. Be careful with matches and lighted cigarettes; clean up rubbish, repair chimneys and correct other hazards. Don't wait until the fire occurs. Much good would be derived if the schools, clubs and organizations would give a talk on this subject.

Yours respectfully,
H. B. RATHBUN, Chief.

MARY PICKFORD BOY IN NEXT FILM-PLAY

The thing that will probably interest the people most about Mary Pickford's "Little Lord Fauntleroy coming to the Niles Theatre next Sunday is not so much the fact that America's Sweetheart plays a dual role in this picture as that she actually takes the part of a boy.

Little Mary has played a dual role before, but this will be the first time she has ever appeared as a boy all through an entire photoplay. While it is true that she has masculine garb in some of her previous productions, she did so as a girl masquerading as a boy for the moment only.

But in this film she is constantly on the screen as Little Lord Fauntleroy or as his mother; in fact, much of the time she is there both as the mother and the little lord, all by the aid of cleverly devised double exposure work of the cameraman.

AT THE THEATRE

Next to Sunday's showing of Mary Pickford, the coming attraction exciting most interest among Niles Theater patrons is the Rudolph Valentino film coming next Thursday evening, October 9. Valentino always draws a good house and this coming Thursday will be no exception. The picture is Monsieur Beaucaire.

This Saturday, the 4th, there will be a double feature show, Gladys Walton in "The Wild aPrty" and Jack Hoxie in "Red Warning."

The picture on Tuesday will be "Behold My Wife."

ENGINEERS CHOOSE MOKELUMNE

A very important step was taken by the Directors of the East Bay Utility District the past week when they unanimously adopted the report recently submitted for their approval by a board of three noted engineers, G. W. Goethals, builder of the Panama Canal, William Mulholland, chief engineer of the Owens River project for Los Angeles and Arthur P. Davis, chief engineer of the local utility district, proposing the Mokelumne river as the future source of a pure and adequate water supply for the nine cities of the East Bay included in the district.

San Leandro is at one end of this district and Richmond at the other, which also includes Oakland, Alameda, Berkeley, Piedmont, Emeryville, Albany and El Cerrito.

The report calls for a bond issue of $39,000,000.00, which will be voted on at the next general election November 4, and if the bonds carry the directors can authorize immediate operations looking to the completion of a project that will take care of the immediate and growing demands for a full and adequate supply of pure water for domestic and industrial needs.

The engineers spent about ten days in a rapid field reconnaisance of the four most promising sources and we print herewith an excerpt of their report outlining their findings and conclusions which resulted in the selection of the Mokelumne or Lancha Plana project.

EXCERPTS FROM THE REPORT.

"In considering the water supply problem presented, this Board has recognized the requirements of the case to include careful consideration of the following elements:

"1. A liberal supply must be brought to the District as quickly as possible, and it is desirable that a moderate emergency supply be available still more quickly, without undue extra expense.

"2. The supply should be as large as it is practical to bring in with available funds, and susceptible of economical increase in the near future to a much larger amount, preferably 200,000,000 gallons daily or more.

"3. The supply must be physically reliable and as free as possible from legal entanglements.

"4. The supply must be brought in without preadventure of failure within the present bonding limit of the District. This is the most important of all the requirements.

"The advantages and disadvantages of each source have been carefully studied, and as a result thereof, we have concluded that the best available source of a water supply for this District is the Mokelumne River, to be utilized by the construction of a high dam near Lancha Plana, about 30 miles northeast of Stockton, and of an aqueduct from that dam to the reservoirs now supplying this district, as outlined in the description of the Mokelumne project. This conclusion is reached from the following considerations:

"1. The supply is the nearest of any of which the quality is satisfactory.

"2. In its ultimate development to a satisfactory magnitude it is the cheapest available.

"3. The contemplated plans stimulate and assist in the development of irrigation and local domestic water supply; and the project is free from legitimate criticism of its relation to local interests.

"4. The contemplated plans are adapted, better than on any other project, to use without waste in bringing quickly to the District a temporary pumped supply from the winter waters of the San Joaquin.

"5. The drainage basin is practically uninhabited and unpolluted and devoid of natural resources likely to attract material development and consequent pollution.

"The above considerations justify us in declaring the designated source to be the quickest, the cheapest, the purest, the safest, and the best supply available.

"We are of the opinion that a supply of 50 million gallons daily can be obtained from the Mokelumne river by the construction of the first unit of this project at a capital expenditure of about $35,000,000, which would be increased to $39,000,000 if provision is made for interest during construction.

"It is our opinion that, by this plan, water can be delivered to one or more reservoirs now serving the district within four years from the time the above sum is made available for the purpose.

"In view of the above facts, we recommend that a bond issue of $39,000,000 be authorized for the acquisition and construction of the Mokelumne project, and that the engineers of the district be instructed to prepare construction plans for the necessary structures as early as possible.

"ARTHUR P. DAVIS,
"GEO. W. GOETHALS,
"WM. MULHOLLAND."
